

Trisha is walking down the steps and sees Mr. Hansen in the hallway. He is her math teacher. Trisha wants to know when Mr. Hansen usually offers tutoring because she knows she is going to be absent from school tomorrow.

1. How does Trisha get Mr. Hansen's attention in a busy hallway?
2. What should Trisha say to Mr. Hansen?
3. How do you think Mr. Hansen will respond?
4. Is Trisha doing the right thing? Why or why not?

Kristen's friends pick her up each day for school. Today Kristen was running a little late, so her friends waited an extra five minutes for her. Joyce said, "We need to speed walk, so we aren't late to school." Amanda replied, "Whatever! I don't care if we are late." Everyone giggled at Amanda's reply.

1. Who's advice should the girls follow? Why?
2. Why do you think everyone giggled at Amanda's reply?
3. Was it appropriate for Kristen's friends to wait for her? Why or why not?
4. What is a reasonable amount of time to wait for someone if you are picking them up for school?
