

CHOOSE YOUR BATTLEGROUND

Vampires and werewolves are fierce fighters. They're well-matched. They both have similar powers. But they have different ways of fighting. They also have different weaknesses. They're natural enemies. They hate each other. So, choose your battleground carefully!

Battleground #1: Sea

- In general, vampires don't like water. They can't cross running water. Water also acts like a mirror. Vampires don't like mirrors. They have no soul. So, they can't see their reflections.
- Werewolves would be comfortable in a sea battle. They're excellent swimmers. But they don't like salt. The sea is made of saltwater. The salt burns their eyes and noses.

In some stories, werewolves protect humans from vampires.
