Helsinki is the capital of Finland. A lot of people live in the city. The city has limited space. The city planners decided to build down. They built a city underground. It's called a shadow city. The shadow city has a swimming pool. It has a church. It has a hockey rink. It has a data center. It has a shopping area. It has parking caves. It has over 125 miles (201 kilometers) of tunnels. There are plans to make the whole city underground. This reduces the spreading of cities into farm areas. This uses the natural cooling of the city's rocks. City planners carve buildings into the earth. They use the rock under the city. They're protected from the sun and wind. They're also protected from attacks. The underground city could support 600,000 people. Finnish soldiers are training in the tunnels.
